To Our Gators on Their Commencement Day,

After years of hard work, meeting challenges large and small and creating many fun memories, today marks an important milestone in your life — your transition from students to alumni. This evening, we gather as a community to celebrate you and acknowledge the friends and family who supported you on this important and life-changing journey.

Class of 2024, you leave San Francisco State University with skills and knowledge which will benefit you, your families and your communities for a lifetime. I hope you have felt the joy of learning and the satisfaction of accomplishment. The degrees you have earned, the knowledge you have gained, the skills you have developed and the friends you have made at San Francisco State will endure long into the future. I know you will represent our University proudly, just as we take pride in your accomplishments.

Throughout the history of our University, graduates have demonstrated a desire to make a positive impact in their communities. I hope that you too have been inspired to help shape a better, more kind and just future for all. You are now among the nearly 300,000 SF State alumni who are making a difference in the Bay Area, across the state and nation, and around the world.

It is my distinct honor to congratulate you and to celebrate you today as SF State graduates!

Congratulations!
Dear Class of 2024,

Please accept my warmest and most heartfelt congratulations on achieving a truly momentous goal in your life. Just a few short years ago, you set your sights on earning a degree. Now, that goal is a reality. I hope you feel a well-earned sense of pride.

Even as numerous forces upended our world, you held firmly onto your dreams and persisted in your studies through challenges none of us could have foreseen or imagined. By necessity, you have developed and honed attributes that will benefit you for a lifetime. Your resilience and adaptability will become career strengths. Your creativity and resourcefulness will define you. Your courage and determination are, in my eyes, already legendary.

Moving forward, you will face new opportunities with the potential for great success. I am sure that you will excel because you have the knowledge, skills and connections gained through your California State University education.

Your personal and educational transformation was aided by faculty, who trained you to look at the world with a critical eye and an open mind. Their efforts were supported by the work of your counselors, advisers, librarians, tutors and coaches who created an encouraging environment for you to succeed. All the while, your family, friends, colleagues and loved ones kept you motivated and saw you through your academic journey.

Your accomplishment today fills all of them — all of us — with pride.

The word we use to commemorate an earned university degree is “commencement.” This is, of course, deliberate. Today is not an end, but rather a beginning. And as you continue on your life’s journey, may your hard work and sacrifices pay dividends far beyond today’s celebration, both in your life and in the lives of those around you.

Congratulations, California State University Class of 2024! I look forward to all that you will accomplish.

Warmly,

Mildred García, Ed.D.

2024 Undergraduate Hoods

2024 Graduate Hoods
San Francisco native Benjamin Bratt is an award-winning actor and producer whose career in both television and film spans nearly 40 years. Raised by a strong, Indigenous single mother from Peru, his family was part of the American Indian Occupation of Alcatraz Island in 1969, an event which ignited the Red Power movement for self-determination. His mother Eldy Bratt raised her children part-time on the island over the 18-month occupation, a decision that inspired a lifetime of activism and commitment to community for his mother and her five children.

Bratt is a proud graduate of the San Francisco Unified School District. A Lowell High School alumnus, he credits his mentor Jack Anderson for his introduction to acting. He graduated from the University of California, Santa Barbara in 1986 with a BFA in Theatre and then pursued an MFA at the American Conservatory Theatre (ACT) in San Francisco. Plucked from starving student status during his second year to star in a TV pilot, he returned to ACT to receive his MFA and quickly established the Bratt Family Diversity Award, an annual scholarship given to the most promising students of color within the program.

Television audiences perhaps best recognize Bratt from his Emmy-nominated role as detective Rey Curtis on NBC’s long-running drama “Law & Order,” or as Sofia Vergara’s ne’er-do-well ex-husband Javier on “Modern Family,” or currently on “Poker Face” alongside actress Natasha Lyonne. Medal, in 2019.

A veteran of nearly 30 films, Bratt’s varied career includes the critically acclaimed films “Piñero,” “Traffic,” “Blood In, Blood Out,” “Doctor Strange,” “The Infiltrator” and “Miss Congeniality,” among many others. Bratt also voiced the supervillain El Macho in “Despicable Me 2,” as well as the famed musician Ernesto de la Cruz in Pixar’s Academy Award-winning film “Coco,” which won for Best Animated Feature and Best Original Song.

Bratt is also the co-founder of 5 Stick Films, a production company aimed at making films intent on creating a social impact. Founded alongside partners Alpita Patel and his brother Peter Bratt, the team produced “La Mission.” The film, written and directed by Peter, won NAACP and GLAAD award nominations and two Imagen awards, including Best Picture and Best Actor. The team’s documentary feature “Dolores,” about the work of labor and civil rights leader Dolores Huerta, won a Peabody and the Audience Award at the San Francisco International Film Festival. The Emmy-nominated film aired on PBS in 2018.

Bratt honors his mother, recognizing that her activism, love and strength were instrumental in shaping his awareness around social justice work. Bratt remains tied to the Indigenous community of the San Francisco Bay Area and is a huge supporter of the Friendship House Village SF project. He remains a longtime supporter of the American Indian College Fund, Amazon Watch, the Natural Resources Defense Council, San Francisco’s BAYCAT, the Missional Cultural Center, Good Samaritan SRC and many other nonprofits.
HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Walter Riley
Lawyer, Civil Rights Activist and Organizer

Walter Riley is an Oakland lawyer whose practice areas include police misconduct, civil rights and criminal defense. Riley serves as a board member of the Coalition for Police Accountability and chair of Deep Medicine Circle.

Growing up in the Jim Crow South, Riley became an activist at a young age. He served as president of the young-adult chapter of the Durham, North Carolina, NAACP and organized voter registration drives, lunch counter sit-ins, job campaigns and campaigns to desegregate public accommodations, schools and businesses. He became a Congress for Racial Equality field secretary for North Carolina and the Southern region of the United States.

He moved to San Francisco in 1965 and attended San Francisco State College. He was active in the 1968 student strike at SF State, participating in the campaign for ethnic studies and the Black Student Union and serving as vice chair of Students for a Democratic Society. After leaving college in 1968, he led the organization of a rank-and-file Black caucus among San Francisco Muni bus drivers. He was active in the labor and anti-war movements, working with the Black Panther Party and other community groups.

He earned his undergraduate degree from Wayne State University in 1977 and a law degree from Golden Gate University in 1980. He continues to work for social, political and economic justice for all people. Riley was the lead attorney for the “Black Friday 14,” #BlackLivesMatter protesters who disrupted Bay Area Rapid Transit service the day after Thanksgiving in 2014. He also represented other #BlackLivesMatters protesters, including those demonstrating against the police murder of George Floyd.

Riley has been recognized over the years by numerous organizations and received the California Black Lawyers Association President’s Award, National Lawyers Guild San Francisco Chapter Champion of Justice award, National Lawyers Guild Law for the People Award and East Bay Sanctuary Covenant Award. He has been honored in the U.S. Congressional Record by Rep. Barbara Lee and in the California Assembly by Assemblywoman Jackie Goldberg. The Oakland City Council proclaimed April 27, 2013 as Walter Riley Day, and he received a Black Panther Commemoration Committee Award.
HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Joseph L. White (A.B., ’54; M.S., ’58)
Psychologist, Educator, Champion of Diversity

Joseph L. White is a pioneering psychologist known to many as “the godfather of Black psychology.” He was also a trailblazer in ethnic studies and other programs that would serve students of color and low-income students for years to come. He was a teacher, a mentor and an administrator at several universities, spending much of his career at the University of California, Irvine (UCI).

He moved to San Francisco after high school, earning bachelor’s and master’s degrees from San Francisco State College. In 1961, he became the first African American to earn a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology from Michigan State University, making him one of only five African Americans in the nation to hold a doctorate in Psychology at that time.

White joined the Psychology Department at California State University, Long Beach, where he co-founded the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP). The program expanded statewide, providing supportive pathways for disadvantaged students to study at CSU campuses. Since its inception, EOP has helped more than 300,000 minority students achieve college degrees and go on to professional careers.

White returned to SF State in 1968 as a professor of Psychology and became a tireless ally to students of color. He was dean of Undergraduate Studies during the 1968 – 1969 student strike and helped launch the Black Studies Program (now the Africana Studies Department), the first of its kind at an American four-year college.

At the height of the civil rights movement, White emerged as a powerful voice for change, challenging psychologists to better understand the unique experiences of ethnic minorities. In 1968, he helped found the Association of Black Psychologists, and his seminal 1970 article in Ebony magazine, “Toward a Black Psychology,” introduced Black perspectives to mainstream psychology. His books include “The Psychology of Blacks: An African American Perspective” and “Black Man Emerging: Facing the Past and Seizing the Future in America.”

UCI recruited White successfully to teach in the Comparative Culture program and serve as director of the Black Studies Program. He also held appointments in the School of Social Sciences and the Department of Psychiatry & Human Behavior. He taught there for 25 years, inspiring and mentoring countless students.

He has been recognized many times for his work, including receiving a citation of Achievement in Psychology and Community Service from President Bill Clinton in 1994 and the Presidential Citation from the American Psychological Association in 2015. In 2008, he was honored as SF State’s Alumnus of the Year. He passed away in 2017 and was posthumously awarded SF State’s highest honor, the President’s

EDDISON JINTALAN CONTRERAS
B.A., Social Work
College of Health & Social Sciences

Eddison Jintalan Contreras’ social work journey was shaped by his own personal experiences of adversities and witnessing systemic inequities in different systems that he worked in. He is an Air Force veteran from a Filipino immigrant household and a member of the LGBTQ+ community. As a young airman, he worked under the “Don’t Ask, Don’t Tell” policy during Operation Iraqi Freedom. He felt the tension between embracing his true self and serving the country. While working at a large health care provider, Contreras saw all forms of oppression embedded within our health care system. All these fueled Contreras’ passion for social justice and inspired his educational goals.

During his tenure at SF State, Contreras contributed to both the campus and broader community. He assumed leadership roles within Social Work Advocates for Visions of Empowerment (SWAVE), was the SF State representative to the 23Strong Council — comprising 23 accredited social work programs across California — and was a founding member of the University chapter of the National Society of Leadership and Success. Notably engaged in policy advocacy, Contreras led legislative teams during the annual National Association of Social Workers’ legislative lobby days in Sacramento. He also supported policy initiatives addressing police brutality in the Antioch community. Currently, he is doing a capstone project exploring the correlation between recidivism rates and the mental health diversion program at the Contra Costa Public Defender’s Office, where he serves as an intern.

Contreras is graduating with a Bachelor of Arts in Social Work magna cum laude. After graduation, Contreras aspires to pursue a Master of Social Work. His goal is to become a licensed social worker specializing in holistic methodologies for mental health care within marginalized communities. Additionally, he’ll continue engaging in macro-level and political social work initiatives contributing to systemic change and advocacy.
Jazz Monique Hudson, an Oakland native with over 15 years of expertise in youth development, educational arts, social justice and organizational change, epitomizes resilience and commitment to societal transformation. Despite the challenges she faced early in her life as a former foster youth and teenage mother, Hudson has overcome them and is now dedicating her life to being an advocate, artist and educator.

For example, Hudson was involved with organizations like the National Black Women’s Justice Institute, Black Youth Project 100 (where she was a founding member) and the Guardian Scholars Program. She was also a program director and founding member of the EMERGE Reentry Program, which focuses on supporting young women of color reintegrating into society after incarceration and academic pushout. Additionally, Hudson was a former victim advocate for the San Francisco District Attorney and has had residencies, workshops and performances at universities like UC Berkeley and Princeton.

Serendipitously, her son’s 17th birthday coincides with the SF State 2024 Commencement, which Hudson says is a reminder of the strength and resilience found in the journey of motherhood. After graduation, she plans to pursue SF State’s Pre-Health Professions Post-Baccalaureate Certificate program, which will help her take the next step toward pursuing a career in health care as an osteopathic doctor specializing in allergy and immunology.

Devora Jimenez Domingo, originally from Guatemala, moved to the United States at a young age. Witnessing her Latinx community’s struggles due to language barriers, Jimenez Domingo has dedicated her work to assisting those with limited English proficiency, especially after recognizing the privilege she had being trilingual in English, Spanish and Mayan.

To support her community, Jimenez Domingo enrolled at SF State to pursue a degree in Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences with minors in Education and Special Education. During her time at SF State, she has actively contributed to the Gray Matter Lab, facilitating language therapy for Spanish speakers and promoting inclusivity in educational settings.

Jimenez Domingo also held leadership roles in various student clubs, advocating for cultural and linguistic diversity within the field of speech pathology. Now preparing for graduate school to become a licensed speech pathologist, she aims to serve marginalized communities, particularly Black, Indigenous and People of Color, by ensuring their identities and linguistic backgrounds are acknowledged and respected in standardized testing and therapeutic practices.

ZEN LEWIS

B.A., International Relations/Political Science
College of Liberal & Creative Arts

In 2019, Zen Lewis’ journey to SF State began with her emigration from Serbia with the vision of achieving the American dream. As an 18-year-old in a new country with no financial support, she faced daunting challenges with housing and food insecurity, while attempting to find full-time employment with limited English fluency and work experience.

Today, Lewis is graduating with a double major in International Relations and Political Science with the highest honors, accompanied by Sigma Iota Rho and Pi Sigma Alpha societal honors. She represents the will and determination of young immigrant women who hail from war-torn nations to forge a new path, both for themselves and their home countries, so that those wars never occur again.

Lewis is a force of nature who speaks three languages, works full time in the wedding industry and serves as managing editor of the International Relations Journal. While earning the Migration and Refugee Studies certificate, she has demonstrated an exemplary work ethic, enthusiasm for global politics and resilience in the face of obstacles.

As president of the International Relations Student Association, Lewis has been a driving force, encouraging her fellow students and others in her community to get involved in domestic and international politics. She has represented SF State at Model United Nations and Model European Union conferences, where she received the Outstanding Head of Government Award. Lewis won the David Jenkins Scholarship for Political Activism for her impactful advocacy of student rights in a political uprising. She used her senior thesis to expand the discussion and analysis of new regime changes, using Serbia as a case study. Off campus, she has organized pop-up events for local artists and fundraisers for nonprofits.

After graduation, Lewis plans to seek a full-time position in San Francisco municipal government and pursue a law degree.
MELIZA MATUTE

B.S., Business Administration (Decision Sciences/Finance)
Lam Family College of Business

Meliza Matute is a first-generation Salvadoran American student. Her parents came to the U.S. with very little money but impressed on her the importance of hard work and education. Those would be the keys to a successful life, they told her. Growing up in East Palo Alto, she became acutely aware of the differences in the level of safety, quality of education and scarcity of resources between her town and its affluent neighbors Menlo Park and Palo Alto. Thanks to a school transfer program, Matute experienced firsthand just how stark the differences were, filling her with a desire for a more equitable world.

Later, Matute moved to Tracy and was committed to attending SF State despite the distance. She traveled six hours a day on public transportation to complete her degree. She started out as a Finance major to increase her financial literacy. By her second year, she decided to also major in Decision Sciences. She graduates with a 3.94 GPA.

Outside of the SF State classroom, Matute spent her time educating young people about decision sciences. She volunteered with incoming high school freshmen, showing them the real world application of math in business and how companies use math to make business decisions. She also worked as a student instructor/facilitator for the “Operations Management Supplemental Instruction” course, to deepen student understanding of difficult concepts.

Matute’s education and experience at SF State inspired her to choose a career that will benefit the common good. Knowing that one’s strength reflects that of their community, she aspires to use her financial and data analysis skills to better her community.

LOAN MY TRAN

B.A., Mathematics (Mathematics for Teaching)
College of Science & Engineering

Childhood experiences with mathematics, particularly those with her grandfather, made a lasting impact on Loan Tran. Her family emigrated from Vietnam. Growing up, she’d stay with her grandparents while her parents worked. Her grandfather taught her math and made worksheets for her. She’d happily memorize multiplication tables and enjoyed playing strategy games like Connect Four. Surrounded by so much math, she naturally gravitated towards STEM at SF State. In addition to majoring in Mathematics, she completed a minor in Computer Science. She is the first in her family to graduate from college.

Tran conducted original research as an undergraduate even though she initially didn’t know anything about math research. In 2022, she participated in the Mathematical Sciences Research Institute Undergraduate Program. She set out to answer neuroscience-motivated math questions related to discrete math, geometry and computational algebra. For her academic achievements, Tran was awarded the C.Y. Chow Memorial Scholarship, the Pamela Fong Scholarship in Mathematics, the David Meredith and Friends Scholarship and the Halmos Scholarship.

Interested in education, Tran volunteered as a tutor at Mastery Learning Hour and helped students with elementary school to high school-level math. She was also proudly a student assistant in the Department of Mathematics office. As her first “real” job, she enjoyed building relationships with professors and using her problem-solving skills in a new setting. Working there for two years, she even wrote the operations guide for other student assistants.

Next, Tran will pursue a Ph.D. to further explore her field and conduct more research. However, she still has an interest in a possible career as a high school math teacher.
The following students, who have achieved outstanding academic records at San Francisco State University, have been selected to represent the students of their respective colleges. On behalf of their classmates, they have received the symbolic investiture of the hood.

JOANNA (LIYI) HUANG
M.A., Education (Secondary Education)
Graduate College of Education

Joanna Huang has had a full circle moment: She’s now teaching at the same school district she graduated from.

At age 13, Huang moved from China to San Francisco, graduating from Francisco Middle School and Washington High School, part of the San Francisco Unified School District (SFUSD). That’s where she participated in English Learner programs, finding solidarity and community among immigrants from around the world. After earning a degree in Managerial Economics with a minor in Education from UC Davis, Huang received her single-subject credential in Math from SF State in 2022.

Huang is now back at SFUSD for a different reason: She’s in her second year of teaching seventh grade at James Denman Middle School. This school has served as the site for her field research study, which looked at math participation among seventh graders. The study was partly inspired by her experience getting her credentials at SF State, which allowed her to see that students who do not feel confident in mathematics can experience greater engagement, confidence, fun and learning through groupwork.

SABREEN IMTAIR
M.A., Ethnic Studies
College of Ethnic Studies

Sabreen Imtair is a seasoned organizer and a prominent figure in the activist community. Throughout her time at SF State, she has also demonstrated being a dedicated scholar in the College of Ethnic Studies.

For example, Imtair serves as a youth organizer with the Arab Resource and Organizing Center, actively participating in movements such as the K–12 ethnic studies campaign. Over the past six months, she also played a pivotal role... role in organizing, mobilizing and fostering community engagement in support of ceasefire in Palestine.

Hailing from a Palestinian family with Bay Area roots, Imtair is a proud product of the region’s public school system and holds the distinction of being the first in her family to attain a college degree. Her graduate thesis delves into the intricacies of community mobilization and organization within the Arab and Muslim communities in the Bay Area.

SON HAI NGUYEN

MBA

Lam Family College of Business

Son Hai Nguyen earned an undergraduate degree in Economics from the National Economic University in Vietnam and gained extensive experience working in the banking industry as a financial analyst and corporate credit manager. In 2017, she relocated to the Bay Area from Vietnam with her spouse and their two young children. Wanting to continue her education, she enrolled in City College of San Francisco (CCSF) and completed an associate’s degree in Finance while maintaining a 4.0 GPA. She served as a member of CCSF’s Associated Students. Later, she decided to pursue an MBA at SF State.

She is “the top-performing student,” according to one of her professors at SF State. Another said she was “extremely prepared, positive and a cheerleader for her classmates.” Her classmates commented on her dedication to her studies, often studying without pause. Nguyen would often take on more than her share of responsibilities during group projects. She provided feedback to teammates to help ensure that their work was of the highest quality.

Throughout her MBA studies, Nguyen actively participated in various activities. In 2023, she joined the Lam Family College of Business Student Ambassador Program. Almost immediately she became a leader among the other ambassadors. She organized and co-hosted events specifically tailored to graduate students, creating an inclusive community with plenty of opportunities for networking.

Nguyen participated in the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program at SF State, where she served as an IRS-certified volunteer tax preparer and quality reviewer, assisting individuals with low incomes on their tax returns. Additionally, she was a research/teaching assistant for Management Professor Smita Trivedi and volunteered at the college’s Women’s Emerging Leadership Forum. She has actively supported and engaged in activities of the San Francisco Chapter of the Association for Corporate Growth (ACG), fostering connections, collaboration and investment between Vietnamese and American businesses.

SU ILAYADA OZCAN
M.S., Chemistry (Biochemistry)
College of Science & Engineering

Su Ozcan wants to develop new treatments without side effects. It’s a passion that stems from her early exposure to her grandfather’s battle with cancer. As an undergraduate in Turkey, she explored innovative therapies and gained two years of professional experience working with pharmaceutical companies. With women being relegated to the background and the value placed on science decreasing in her country, Ozcan decided to leave Turkey and pursue her academic goals in the United States.

As an international student at SF State, Ozcan focused on groundbreaking research in enzymology and medicinal chemistry to develop a novel side effect-free treatment for tuberculosis. She published these discoveries in scientific journals. She demonstrated her commitment to making a positive impact beyond the lab by serving as a teaching associate for two years. Accolades for her academic performance and commitment to science include the Henry Bertin Jr. Scholarship, the Agents of Change Build Merck Scholarship, the Bill Plachy TA (teaching assistant) Award and the CSU Trustees Award.

After SF State, Ozcan’s next step is to begin a Chemistry Ph.D. program at the University of Southern California, where she’s already been offered a graduate fellowship. Looking ahead, Ozcan is excited to continue her quest to develop new therapeutics and treatment strategies that will make an impact. She is eager to translate her academic research into practical applications and hopes to eventually establish a pharmaceutical company. Beyond medicine, she aspires to continue being a teacher and create educational opportunities for underprivileged children. She also hopes to provide financial and moral support for others, especially women in science.

MONIQUE SCOTT
MPH
College of Health & Social Sciences

Monique Scott decided to pursue a Master of Public Health (MPH) degree at SF State after seeing structural and systemic health disparities affect her community. She began her career as a social worker, caregiver and care coordinator, assisting people navigating governmental and nonprofit assistance programs and managing medical conditions. During the pandemic, she became a resource navigator and case manager for individuals exposed to COVID-19. Seeing how disparities impacted marginalized residents, she wanted to make a larger impact. She became interested in the social determinants of health and how prevention programs could more effectively help communities.

At SF State, she explored her passion for research with the Health Equity Institute. Her assessment of participation of food establishments in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Programs (SNAP) in urban university settings significantly influenced a statewide campaign to enhance access to SNAP benefits at CSU campuses. She also published research on navigating nutrition inequities among pregnant and postpartum mothers and children in BIPOC communities. The Oakland native’s projects also included studies on how urban agriculture can use mutual aid practices and how built environment contributes to the adverse health outcomes of environmental injustices.

While at SF State, she was a Climate Action Fellow, a Graduate Equity Fellow and a President’s Leadership Fellow. She authored, published and presented her research at multiple local and national conferences. She also participated in the University’s Earth Week 2024.

After graduation, she will continue learning and applying her skills in research, writing and coordination to address health equity in the Bay Area. She plans to continue participating in strategies for community and policy-level interventions for marginalized communities of color. She is grateful for the SF State connections that contributed to her accomplishments.

GENESIS SORRICK
M.A., Philosophy
College of Liberal & Creative Arts

In September 2020, amidst the chaos of COVID-19, the eerie orange sky from raging wildfires and the protests against police brutality, Genesis Sorrick gave birth to her first child. Bringing a human into the world during this time was incredibly daunting. Sorrick responded with her characteristic strength, integrity and clear-sighted optimism. Inspired to understand the world better and envision a brighter future for her daughter, she decided to return to college and complete her B.A. in Philosophy at SF State.

Later, during Sorrick’s first semester as a Philosophy grad student at SF State, she began to experience excruciating pain and debilitating neurological symptoms. Nevertheless, she refused to let desperation consume her. She channeled her energy into understanding her experience and found solace in her academic studies. She excelled in her courses, writing brilliant research papers, contributing insightfully to discussions and the life of the department, working conscientiously as a teaching assistant and maintaining a 4.0 grade-point average. Living with chronic pain led Sorrick to her M.A. thesis: a remarkably original, meticulously researched and highly persuasive account of medical gaslighting.

“Philosophy allowed me to ground myself in something other than my pain and focus on envisioning a better world for my daughters,” she says.

Sorrick’s journey has been shaped by additional obstacles. She is a Mexican-born woman and the first in her family to complete a college degree. Also, as a member of the LGBTQ+ community, she came out to friends and family in high school in a primarily right-wing, conservative town. Rather than dissuade her from pursuing her dreams, these experiences helped Sorrick develop the strength and tenacity she has needed to thrive at SF State, raise her children and live with chronic pain. She is a remarkable person, with a strong commitment to enacting positive change, both as a philosopher and a mother.
For 125 years, San Francisco State University has distinguished itself as a vibrant center of scholarship, innovation and community engagement. Though it began as a school for local educators, today its more than 293,000 graduates are leaders in science, business, public service, journalism and the arts — virtually every sphere of activity — around the globe.

Founded in 1899 by an act of the California legislature, the San Francisco State Normal School was created to fill the city’s acute need for well-trained, experienced teachers. The school’s first location was a rented two-story building atop Nob Hill. The first graduating class — the class of 1901 — consisted of three dozen students, all women. Within a decade the normal school earned a solid reputation for its high-caliber graduates, innovative teaching methods and emphasis on practical experience. In the 1920s, the school began offering the bachelor of arts degree. When the Great Depression sharply curtailed the need for new teachers, the school expanded its programs to include a full liberal arts curriculum. In 1935, it became San Francisco State College. Its first master’s degree, in education, was offered in 1949.
ENROLLMENT QUADRUPLED in the five years following World War II. To accommodate growing demand, the college moved in 1954 to its present campus near Lake Merced, which now encompasses more than 140 acres. To bring intellectual cohesion to its evolving curriculum, San Francisco State developed the General Education program — a nationally known model requiring all students to take a unified core set of courses. In 1961, the college joined what would become the 23-campus California State University system and in 1974 was renamed San Francisco State University.

TODAY THE UNIVERSITY has a diverse student body of more than 23,000. The University offers numerous degrees and certifications: bachelor’s degrees in 76 academic areas with an additional 40 areas of concentration; master’s degrees in 63 academic areas with an additional 32 areas of concentration; a Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) in Educational Leadership, a Ph.D. in Education with a concentration in Special Education; a Clinical Doctorate of Physical Therapy (D.P.T.) jointly with University of California, San Francisco; 13 credential programs and 54 certificate programs. While justifiably renowned as a teaching university, SF State is also associated with outstanding research and scholarly activity in the arts, sciences, business, health, and many other disciplines. The University attracts world-class faculty as well as extensive grants and contracts for cutting-edge research.

SF STATE’S REACH EXTENDS far beyond its Lake Merced campus, as well. In Marin County, the University’s Estuary & Ocean Science Center trains the next generation of marine scientists while monitoring the health of the Bay and its tidal marshes, eelgrass meadows and beaches. Located in the forests near the North Yuba River, the Sierra Nevada Field Campus gives students an immersive opportunity for learning about biological diversity, geosciences, hydrology, astronomy and more. And SF State’s College of Professional & Global Education offers a variety of continuing education courses, academic credit certificates and professional development certificates designed to advance careers and expand opportunities.

THE UNIVERSITY also reaches out through its long-standing commitment to community service. Hands-on learning and engaged citizenship have been hallmarks of an SF State education since its first president, Frederic Burk, chose Experientia Docet — Experience Teaches — as the school’s motto. Acting on the principle that learning cannot be isolated from the world in which it is applied, the University partners with the community through many of its classes and a wide range of centers and institutes, including the Health Equity Institute, the Marian Wright Edelman Institute, the Veteran Documentary Corps and the Paul K. Longmore Institute on Disability. SF State’s Institute for Civic and Community Engagement was launched to connect students, staff and faculty members with service opportunities that strengthen both their skills and the surrounding communities.

AS A RESULT of these efforts, SF State’s leadership as a values-driven institution is widely recognized. SF State’s proudest achievement, however, remains the thousands of graduates who are putting the skills, insights and ideals nurtured at the University to work. New graduates will further the impact of these legions of accomplished alumni by putting their passion into action wherever they go — making the world a better place in the process.
PARTICIPATION IN today’s 123rd Commencement exercise links our graduates and faculty with scholastic antiquity. Many of the rituals seen at this ceremony stem from the European Middle Ages when the church was the center of learning. At that time, academic gowns were a common form of dress retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern styles. The early European universities were founded by the church, and students, being clerics, were obliged to always wear the prescribed gown.

ALL SAN FRANCISCO STATE graduates wear special robes of royal purple, one of the University’s official colors. The gown worn at the Commencement ceremony is indicative of the degree being awarded. Bachelor’s gowns have pointed sleeves; master’s gowns have oblong sleeves cut square at the end, with wrist openings; and doctoral gowns have bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands (symbolizing the third and highest academic degree) and velvet facings to the front. All gowns are designed to be worn closed, unlike many of their European counterparts.

THE SIZE AND SHAPE of the academic hood and the width of its velvet edging also help to identify the level of the degree that the wearer has earned. Hoods designating the bachelor’s degree (worn here today only by the students chosen to represent their colleges) are 36 inches; those for the master’s degree are 42 inches; those for the doctoral degree are 48 inches and include a cape, visible at the side. The shell of the hood is lined with the official color, or colors, of the college or university conferring the degree. SF State’s are purple and gold. More than one color is often displayed in V-shaped stripes, known as chevrons. The color of the hood’s velvet border indicates the field or discipline in which the degree is granted. SF State’s master’s degree hoods are edged in the following colors:

- Business .................... Drab (light brown)
- Education .......................... Light blue
- Ethnic Studies ..................... Crimson
- Health & Social Sciences ......... Gold
- Liberal & Creative Arts .......... White
- Nursing ................................ Apricot
- Public Health ........................ Salmon
- Science & Engineering .......... Gold

OUR FACULTY have earned degrees at top universities around the nation and the world. As they process into the stadium, their regalia make for a colorful display. The linings of their hoods (and sometimes the color of their gowns) identify the institutions from which they earned their degrees. Leading the Platform Party in the ceremony today is the chair of the Academic Senate, Professor Michael A. Goldman, who carries the University mace, an ancient symbol of order and authority in both the civic and academic worlds.

RULES
Guests who enter the playing field or who throw (or attempt to throw) objects in the stands or onto the field are subject to ejection and criminal prosecution. They will also be held liable for any fines and/or damage.

ELEVATORS AND ESCALATORS
The elevators at the Willie Mays Plaza and 2nd Street Plaza provide access to all levels of the park. The elevators at Lefty O’Doul Plaza and Seals Plaza provide access to the Promenade Level only. In addition, at Willie Mays Plaza there is one escalator which will move guests up before the ceremony and change direction after the graduate procession to bring guests down after the ceremony.

FIRST AID
The First Aid Station, located on the Promenade Level behind Section 132, is open during the ceremony to provide evaluation and treatment to guests for minor medical needs. Dignity Health physicians, nurses and emergency medical personnel staff the First Aid Station. King American Ambulance service is available for medical emergencies.

GUEST SERVICES OFFICE
Guest Services personnel are available at the Guest Services Desk, located behind home plate on the Promenade Level, for wheelchair requests, lost and found items, information about public transportation, stroller check, lost or found children and parents, and a variety of other services. Concierge personnel are available to assist guests on the Alaska Airlines Club and Oracle Suite levels, near the Willie Mays elevators.

LIVESTREAMING
The Commencement ceremony will be livestreamed for guests joining us off-site. A link can be found on the Commencement website: commencement.sfsu.edu.

LOST AND FOUND
If a guest has lost an item during the ceremony, they should contact the nearest Ballpark Operations or Guest Services staff member for assistance. Found items might also be turned in to Ballpark Operations or Guest Services staff. Items will be held for one week. Unclaimed items will be donated to charity. To report or claim a lost item during or after an event, please visit the Lost and Found section of the Giants website at mlb.com/giants/ballpark/lost-and-found.

PHOTOGRAPHS
We know this is a special day and that families and friends of graduates want to take photographs. Because of access restrictions, this is not possible. A professional photography company will be taking photos prior to graduates entering the ballpark. Graduates will receive order forms directly from the company.

Commencement occurs in a public venue and will be recorded and photographed for distribution through various SF State outlets. All audience members (or parents/guardians of minors attending the event) acknowledge that they may appear on these recordings and photographs by virtue of their attendance at or participation in Commencement, and agree to SF State and their partners use of photographed or videotaped materials through the University’s websites, applications and other channels of communication.
